

A FRIEND

said recently, "I buy all my boy's clothes now with what I save on my own." He used to have all his clothes made-to-order, but now he has learned that a certain make of ready-to-wear garments will give him all that he can ask for in style and durability.

He always looks for this label, and when he finds it, he knows he is safe, and buys.

If you are not familiar with this make of clothes, come in and we will take pleasure in demonstrating their superiority over any other make of ready-to-wear garments, and show you how you can dress in the most modest or extreme style at small cost.

In HATS and HABERDASHERY, too, we can give you some money-saving hints.

POLO MEN
GET READY

Four Games Will Be Played Here.

AN INCH ADDED
FOR THE HORSES

Maui Will be Benefited by the Change—Schedule and Plans for the Week.

Four games will constitute the play during the polo tournament, it being found impossible to make the number six, as has been suggested, and desired by some of the outsiders, so that each team may have a go with every other team in the tournament. This plan will make games on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and the concluding contest on Saturday, after Thanksgiving.

The schedule calls for a match between Oahu and Hawaii on Tuesday, the game to commence at 1:30 o'clock. The next day Maui and Kauai will meet and on Thanksgiving Day the game will be between the losers of the preceding games. This will leave the great game, that between the winners, to be fought out on Saturday. Every game except the first will be called at 3:30 o'clock. By this plan there will be a chance for Kauai and Maui, which teams have been casting deficits at each other, to have a match with fresh horses.

A most important decision has been made by the local committee, which will redound to the benefit of Maui most particularly. There are in training over there some horses which are out of the polo class, being a little above 14-2, almost 14-3 in fact. The owning of these horses would put Maui in a bad way and consequently they will be permitted to play. The horses of the local men are all under the limit, so that the removal may benefit outsiders only.

There may be another change made during the period of the games, but it is a matter which must be settled by the captains of the four teams in conference. This bears upon the time of play. It is proposed by some of the players to lengthen the rests and shorten the playing time. This would tend to make the game faster while it lasts, and may have the effect of preventing such straining on the part of the men as often results from too hard work in this climate.

Special steamer rates have been made for the horses of the players, and the local club will stable and keep them during their stop here.

"POST SCHOOL" AT
CAMP M'KINLEY

Young Officers Must Study and Recite Lessons for Three Months.

The younger army officers at Camp McKinley have to go to school again. Secretary Root intends that the officers of Uncle Sam's army shall learn something new during their service, and to this end recently promulgated a circular which has been sent to every army post in the United States, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines, and even the detachment now on duty in Peking, China, at the American legation, to establish "post schools." The circular or regulation requires that all lieutenants and all captains of less than ten years' service as commissioned officers, shall attend the two sessions of ninety days each between November 1 and March 30.

Officers at Camp McKinley will take their books and wend their way to "post school" about December 1 unless the present plans are materially changed. The school takes the place of the Lyceum authorized to train young officers. The officers who show the greatest professional talent will be selected for further instruction in the general service and staff college and in the War College in Washington.

One reason for the establishment of the school is on account of the great number of recent appointments as officers in the army, of civilians. Secretary Root's circular received here is as follows:

"It is not intended that officers shall be forever attending recitations. Under the old system of lyceum instruction there was no such thing as graduation, but under the new scheme, prepared under the direct supervision of the Secretary of War, officers will be able generally within two years to secure certificates in all the departments which they are required to pursue. It is assumed that all officers have an average education before entering the Army, and the idea which runs through the new system is that every officer holding a commission should possess a thorough technical knowledge indispensable to military men. Every Lieutenant will be required to establish his fitness not only in the theories of his ordinary duties, but also learn practically the duties of Adjutant, Quartermaster, Commissary and those of other staff bureaus. He will be required to show his mastery of all the details of company administration, which knowledge is of such great importance, since it involves the preparation of all the muster rolls, returns and other company papers, requisitions for rations, clothing and other supplies, supervision of the preparation and cooking of food for the men."
